CAIRO, Feb. 8.—Thousands of Italians attempting to escape from British-occupied Bengazi have been trapped by an Anglo-Australian armored column that executed a wide, sweeping maneuver south of the fallen Fascist base, it was claimed in Cairo today.

Latest reports from the Bengazi region estimated some 25,000 Italian troops had been concentrated in and around Bengazi when the British Imperial forces swept into the modern mid-Libyan seaport that had served as headquarters for Marshal Rodolfo Graziani.

Authorities in Cairo said a major portion of these Italian troops were cut off from retreat when a British armored column sped westward below the Gebel Akhdar mountains, cutting the highway south of Bengazi.

Face Surrender or Death
Retreating Fascist units, Cairo reports said, attempted frantically to break through the British cordon but were hurled back into the "pocket" and seemingly faced the alternatives of surrender or death. Many already were said to have been captured.

Report Italian Troops Evacuating Tepeleni

(International News Service)
ATHENS, Feb. 8.—Faced with the threat of being surrounded by Greek forces, Italian troops today were reported evacuating the strategic Albanian base of Tepeleni.
Latest front-line dispatches reported that Greek mountain troops had seized the commanding heights on either side of the Italian stronghold, leaving the Fascist forces no choice but to fall back.

The new Greek advance in the Tepeleni sector was made after an attempted Italian counter-offensive was frustrated. Greek artillery "mowed down" the charging Italian soldiers, it was claimed.

Offensive Collapses
Halted by the Greek gunfire, the Italian offensive collapsed within less than two hours. Charging Greek troops, employing bayonets, then thrust the disorganized Italians from their positions.

Seven Italian tanks were smashed, hundreds of Fascist soldiers were killed, and many were captured as the result of the Greek counter-thrust. The Greek high command also reported capture of large amounts of war booty.

Vigorous exchanges of rifle fire were reported in the Klisura area while on the northern front in the vicinity of Lake Ochrid, Italian troops were falling back.

Retreating Italian divisions burned villages, destroyed bridges and blocked mountain paths to slow down the Greek advance. Only areas in which the Italians were reported offering stiff resistance were the Ostrovitza mountain heights and along the Skumbi river.

On the Adriatic coast, Greek columns continued to advance on the port of Valona although operations in this sector were hampered by rain and muddy roads.

Bulgaria Sends Reinforcements To Thracian Frontier

Large Army Along
Her Borders

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, Bulgaria, Feb. 8.—Bulgaria today was reported rushing troop reinforcements to the Thracian frontier following disclosure that Turkey was massing a large army along her borders.

Dispatches reaching Budapest indicated the Turkish military concentrations against an added precaution thrust through Bulgaria toward Greece and the Dardanelles.

Decision to bolster the Turkish defenses apparently was made at the recent general staff talks at Ankara between Turkey and Britain. At the time, military experts expressed the fear Germany might move in the Balkans to recoup advantages lost by the British occupation of Eastern Libya.

Defense Work Tieup Develops At Homestead

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 8.—National defense work was halted today as some 300 men in the 100-inch mill of the Homestead plant of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation demanded settlement of a wage grievance.

James Thomas, SWOC sub-regional director, said the union's grievance committee was meeting with plant officials in an effort to reach an understanding. The workers claim that under the present wage system it is impossible to know the exact wage earned during a pay period. Efforts have been made for more than two years to reach a settlement, according to Thomas.

The company declined to issue any statement as to the cause of the dispute, but admitted the mill was shut down.

TWENTY-SEVEN MORE REPORTED INJURED

(International News Service)
DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 8.—Their frantic efforts to save their clothes today were blamed for the deaths of eight transients and injuries to 27 others in a fire at the Salvation Army's lodge in Dallas late last night.

Three of the dead were identified as J. E. White, Thomas Cook and another man named Donovan. The addresses of the others were unknown. The bodies were burned beyond recognition and some of the house records were destroyed. Two of the dead were cripples who were trapped in a second-story room. At least six of the injured were in a critical condition.

The fire started in a fumigating closet where a small stove was lighted. Smoke began pouring from the small enclosure and a number of men rushed to save their clothes. As they opened the door flames shot across the second floor, and within a few minutes the entire room was an inferno.

The transients were receiving free lodging for the night. At least eighteen escaped down the only exit before flames destroyed the stairway. The remainder, of the estimated total of 51, were trapped. Some jumped to the street resulting in numerous leg and arm fractures and other injuries.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The house today rejected a Republican effort to write a ban into the lease-lend bill against sending American troops abroad unless congress specifically approved.

The house defeated a proposal by Rep. Van Zandt (R) Pa., which would have required the consent of congress before the president could order troops beyond territorial limits of the western hemisphere, an exception being made in the case of the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—With leaders predicting house passage of the lend-lease bill by a 75-vote majority, the administration today ordered the legislation revised to make certain that President Roosevelt will have authority to transfer up to $1,300,000,000 worth of existing national defense articles to Britain until such time as congress makes appropriation to finance the new program.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Despite persistent assaults on "blank check" powers conferred on President Roosevelt in the "lend-lease" bill, democratic whip Pat Boland, of Pennsylvania, declared that the measure will pass the house late today by a minimum majority of 75 votes.

"My minimum majority estimate before this fight started was 50, and I now raise that to at least 75," said Boland, after a canvass of the house. "It may, of course, go much higher."

Balked Yesterday

Balked in their plan to pass the bill yesterday and speed it to the senate. Democratic leaders promised to "put on the heat" in an extraordinary Saturday session in order to assure passage by nightfall.

In their effort to roll up a big vote "in the interest of national unity," Democratic leaders had reversed themselves to make a further concession to the opposition. More concessions were possible today.

Through a complicated amendment, proposed by Chairman Bloom (D) N. Y. of the foreign affairs committee, the house limited the value of existing army and navy ships, tanks, airplanes and other defense articles, which the president may transfer to world democracies, to approximately $1,300,000,000.

Fails To Satisfy

This "ceiling" on transfer of existing arms to Britain to meet the predicted 60 to 90 day crisis, however, failed to satisfy the opposition. It put no limit on authorized amounts to be appropriated in the future for (Continued On Page Two)

Shenango Firemen Reject 'Hall' Plan

Conclude Own Headquarters Is Best; Grangers Are Heard

Hopes for a community hall in Shenango township—with East New Castle Grange and the volunteer fire department under the same roof—faded when the firefighters last night voted firm but friendly opposition to the proposal.

"Most of the firemen feel they should have their own building," Henry Wellhausen, past master of East New Castle Grange and one of three spokesmen who appeared before the firemen, explained. "But everything was in good spirits, and the firemen's point was well taken."

East New Castle Grange lost its hall in a fire a short time ago, and not long after that a movement developed to build a joint hall with the firemen.

The firemen last night asked the Grangers to co-operate with them in getting a new fire hall, and the volunteers want to help the Grangers build theirs.

All occupants of the plane, including the pilot and the crew, were killed immediately, the announcement said. General Yu Han Mo, commander of the Chinese forces in Kwantung, stated valuable confidential military reports were found on Baron Osumi.

A member of the Japanese supreme war council, and chief of the third naval squadron, Baron Osumi was one of the key strategists in the war against China.

The wrecked plane was found on Hwangyang Shan mountain near Chungshan, birthplace of Sun Yat Sen, founder of the Chinese republic.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Britain's westward push in Libya ended, for the time being at least, with the capture of Bengazi, military authorities in London said today.

Imperial forces now are concentrating on rounding up as many as possible of the 50,000 to 60,000 Italians who escaped from Bengazi, advances from the front indicated.

Many thousands more Fascists face death or capture at the hands of British troops as they strive to reach safety in Tripolitania, 400 miles across the desert, authorities believed.

Altogether, it was estimated that around 100,000 Italian troops—less than half of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's original army of North Africa—remain between Bengazi and Tripoli.

In the Pittsburgh sector, at least one person was killed and more than half a dozen injured in auto collisions on icy roads. Light snow falling late yesterday afternoon was pressed into a treacherous glaze by evening traffic, bringing warnings for all motorists to exercise caution as traffic was brought to a crawl.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Alf M. Landon, 1936 GOP presidential nominee, today called upon the administration to advise both the American and British people whether the United States intends to enter the war.

"If the Yanks are not coming," Landon told the Senate foreign relations committee, "the English are entitled to know it."
"If it is necessary—if it is essential to our security that England wins this war—then let's stop fooling around with this lease-lend bill. If we intend to tell England the Yanks are coming, the sooner we let England know it, the better we can coordinate our activities with theirs."

"If an English victory is not essential to our security, then the only fair and decent thing to do is to say to Britain: 'We will help you with money and materials only and it is your job to come and get them!'"

Highways Of State Reported Ice-Glazed

(International News Service)

Ice-glazed highways and city streets put motorists back on the defensive today as another cold wave swung over Pennsylvania.

In western Pennsylvania it looked like a "ski-train" week-end. While the temperature at Pittsburgh fell to a low of 20 degrees during the night, dry, powdery snow was general in flurries throughout that area. Early today it was 25 degrees in midtown Pittsburgh.

Similar conditions were reported across the state. "Continued cold" with more snow flurries was the forecast.

In the Pittsburgh sector, at least one person was killed and more than half a dozen injured in auto collisions on icy roads. # Some Changes In Churchill's Cabinet

Minor Reshuffle Made In Cabinet

MacDonald Is Named As British High Commissioner For Canada

BROWN IS NAMED HEALTH MINISTER

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Malcolm MacDonald, minister for health and son of the late Premier Ramsey MacDonald, today was appointed British high commissioner for Canada in a minor reshuffle of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's cabinet.

Ernest Brown, labor leader and secretary of state for Scotland, was named to replace the 40-year-old MacDonald as head of the health ministry. Thomas Johnston, Laborite member of the House of Commons, succeeded Brown.

Lord Moyne, joint parliamentary secretary for the ministry of agriculture, was named to replace the late Lord Lloyd of secretary of state for colonies.

Today's new appointments only concerned the regular cabinet and had no bearing on the membership of Churchill's seven-man war cabinet.

bill and as a dangerous grant of power to one man.

Appearing before the committee as the final opposition witness, Landon pleaded with congress not to surrender the control over the aid program to Mr. Roosevelt. The man whose rose overnight a decade ago from the comparative obscurity of an independent oil man to become twice governor of Kansas and then a presidential candidate, gave this warning:

"Remember, once that one man has set in motion the forces that inevitably lead to war, congress has no choice but to support the program; the nation will be committed to carry on until the bitter end."

"I have heard it stated that it is preposterous to suggest, the President would use these powers. Then I suggest it is equally preposterous that the congress grant these powers."

Going beyond that bill, Landon scored Mr. Roosevelt on two other counts: First, that the President is not keeping his campaign promises of a few months ago; second, that Mr. Roosevelt himself, is violating his defense of freedom of speech by his repeated attacks on Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D, Mont., leader of the non-intervention bloc in congress.

direct manufacture of arms for Britain, Greece, China and other powers. Two major efforts to put additional "ceilings" in the bill were planned today. They are amendments of Rep. Wadsworth (R) N. Y. for an overall limit of aid to Britain to $7,000,000,000, and an amendment by Rep. Eaton (R) N. J. authorizing expenditure of $2,000,000,000 for the strictly "lease-lend" plan.

Engineers Amendment

Speaker Sam Rayburn, disregarding the rank and file of the foreign affairs committee, engineered the "ceiling" amendment on existing arms. It limits transfers of existing war stocks to 10 per cent of appropriations for defense articles during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941. This total is estimated at $13,000,000,000, thus bringing about the $1,300,000,000 limitation.

The house speaker acted after conferring with Rep. Taber, N. Y. ranking Republican on the appropriations committee.

"It is a good ceiling," said Taber. "What it does is to limit the president to taking $1,300,000,000 worth of arms out of stock, so to speak. Then, when he begins to manufacture new goods for Britain and other nations, he will seek an appropriation and congress can impose a limit there."

Foes Not Satisfied

Bitter foes of the measure, who charge that it will take the nation into war, scorned the concessions made by the administration in the "ceiling" amendment and other limitations, including a declaration against convoys or sending ships into war zones.

These amendments are simply tricks to fool the people into believing that congress is not surrendering its powers to the president to involve us in war," emphatically declared Rep. Woodruff (R) Mich. a veteran of two wars.

"It is all an effort to confuse the people and make them think the bill is being limited."

field and caused "only insignificant damage."

Centers On Boulogne

The attack centered on Boulogne, but spectators on the English coast reported that after two hours of solid bombing it spread to Calais and that still other British planes appeared to be concentrating on an inland target between Boulogne and Cap Gris Nez.

After the initial attack on Boulogne, the R.A.F. bombers returned again to that important Nazi invasion center, pounding it with redoubled fury.

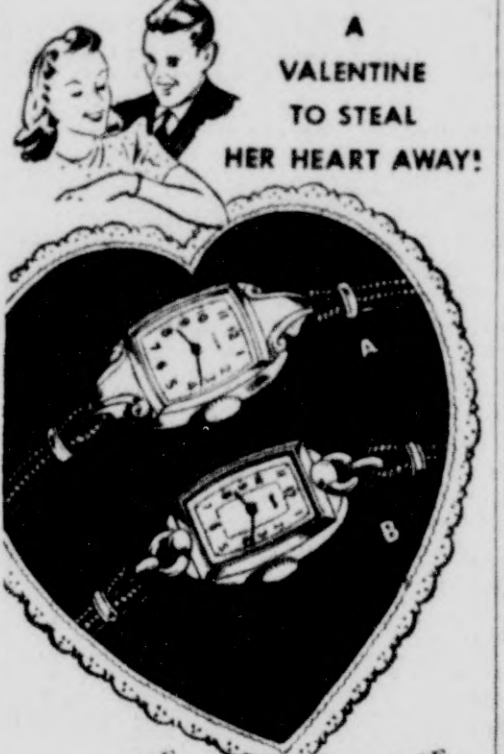

The large-scale British raids began at 9 p. m. aroused by the sound of exploding bombs, thousands of persons lined the Kent coast and watched the display across the channel, where terrific flashes lighted the sky above a bank of fog that shrouded the water.

Great Explosions Heard

Like great claps of thunder the bomb explosions rumbled through the haze and scores of searchlights, star shells and "flaming onions" shot skyward as German defenses sought to ward off the attack.

After the raid had progressed an hour two sheets of orange flame, accompanied by terrific blasts, shot up from a point east of Boulogne. The explosions were so violent they rattled doors and windows along the Kent coastline.

Later a bright red glow, apparently from a great fire, was reflected by the clouds.

The Parent Problem

HOME, TOO, PLACE FOR DEMOCRACY

Believing as we do with all our heart in our democratic form of government, we also believe in democracy in the home.

The first essential of democracy in the home is that concerning husband-wife relationships. Some husbands are absolute dictators toward the wife, a few wives toward the husband. Then there is the problem of democracy between parents and children, between children and children, among the entire family.

In a democracy, citizens have the opportunity to choose their own rules and make the laws which shall govern them. Yet we should remember that no one can exercise complete citizenship in the United States until attaining the age of 21, and this does seem exceedingly late. Wouldn't the average youth at eighteen be able to vote about as intelligently as his parents or grandparents?

Anyhow, the assumption of our democratic form of government is that citizenship requires maturity and that until the age of 21 the youth will have been preparing to exercise full citizenship. To this end the modern high school has been affording some excellent training through allowing the students to participate in the school government and to share in responsibilities for group and individual control at school.

Democracy In The Home
Some homes have been doing likewise. In these homes growing children have shared in the family plans and programs. These children have been taken into the confidence and counsel of the parents in respect to the family income and expenditures. They also have shared in arriving at reasonable rules, duties and responsibilities of the several members of the family group.

Nevertheless, wise parents keep in mind that only gradually does the child acquire the ability, experience and wisdom to approach the level at which his parents can assume and exercise freedom and responsibility.

Here some over-enthusiastic persons seem to me to err in thinking of democracy in the home. They would permit more freedom to the child, especially the young child, and expect more responsibility from him, than he is ready to use well or assume effectively. The child in the home grows best toward citizenship in a democracy if he has been guided and sometimes restrained.

Early Training
Therefore, he needs to be trained from early childhood in certain useful habits and behavior, needs to learn to do certain socially useful things and not to do certain other things, even long before he can choose wisely himself or see the reason why.
Parents should let the child make choices and decisions as he proves himself able to do so wisely.
Dictatorship in the home takes no account of growth in these directions. The child under it never grows able to govern himself, take responsibility for his own conduct, nor responsibility for shaping the plans, program and rules of living in the family.

STUBBORN

For five and thirty years, almost. I've done her bidding, uncomplaining.
Broken myself of dunking toast. And worn my rubbers when 'twas raining.
Learned not to leave a drawer pulled out.
And how to leave the bathroom tidy.
Until today I walk about. As meek as any monk on Friday.

For five and thirty happy years "Yes dear!" is all I've ever muttered.
The wisest phrase, it now appears. The lips of married men have uttered.
"Tomorrow night to Brown's!" says she.
"Next Tuesday night a tea we're giving!"
And all she ever hears from men is, "Yes, my dear, if still I'm living."

Through five and thirty years, almost. Uncounted follies, I've discarded. I do not mention this to boast. But elsewhere highly I'm regarded.
I'm thoughtful, tidy and polite. I'd say, a credit to my teacher. Still, she insists and thinks she's right.
I've always been a stubborn creature.

A yarn heard in the courthouse. The famous criminal lawyer had won a shockingly bad case by eloquence and trickery. A rival lawyer said to him bitterly:

What's What At A Glance

Ireland Sitting In Tough Spot
Can't Stay Neutral Much Longer
Both Sides Desire Bases On Isle

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

EAMON DE VALERA's recent warning to "prepare for the worst," in connection with war conditions, attracted a good bit of attention in Washington, as doubtless it did among the Irish themselves.

Our own army, navy, and aviation strategists, and our observers, have been wondering for some time how long the Emerald Islanders will be able to hold out as neutrals between Britain and the Axis powers. From Eamon's broadcast they're surmising now that the Dublin government can't stay on the fence very much longer.

Born in Brooklyn of Spanish parents it isn't seen quite clearly here how Eamon, strangled himself into the Irish premiership, but he did it somehow, and it's taken for granted that he knows what he's talking about.

To be sure he didn't forecast which side Erin will be on if it does become involved in the conflict. What he said was that, with Britain and the Axis blockading one another, his island's blockaded, in effect, by both, and it's seriously feeling the pinch. In fact, he announced some rationing, already. He added that there's danger of actual attack.

An Axis attack or an English attack? Obviously De Valera wasn't sure.

German aviators dropped bombs on the Isle a couple of times not long ago. Berlin subsequently explained that these raids were "regrettable mistakes," but our own air experts are suspicious that the two visits were experimental, with a view to seizing the island soon, as a springboard for an invasion of England. It would be admirably adapted for the purpose.

English Want Ports
On the opposite hand, the English want a number of Irish ports as bases for blockade operations against the Nazis.

Churchill has complained bitterly that John Bull can't get "em, because of Irish neutrality. Guesses are ventured that, sooner or later, the Britons will grab 'em forcibly. Probably the ultimate position of the Irish will depend on which side acts first.

The chances are that they'll be pro-English if Germany's first to land on 'em, pro-German if England makes the initial grab. They wouldn't like having the Nazis treat 'em as they've treated Scandinavia and the Low Countries. Neither are they traditionally friends of English tyranny, as they used to refer to it.

Of course they're among the world's champion scrappers independently, but they're hardly fixed to deal competently with conflict like today's. Their army of about 250,000, it's said, is of first class human quality, but exceedingly skimpily armed, and they practically have no navy or air force at all.

In short, they're on a hot spot, as observed from here. I've referred to the place as Ireland, for that's the name I'm accustomed to.

Now it's Eire.
That's what our news writers generally call it.

They also call Siam "Thai" or "Thailand". Helsinki, formerly the capital of Finland, has become "Helsinki". One-time Christiania is "Oslo". Constantinople is "Istanbul". Ankara is "Ankara". St. Petersburg first was "Petrograd," now "Leningrad."

Our news commentators have kept up with these alterations, and they appear in print in their various new forms.

Inconsistencies
O. K., but why aren't these writers consistent?

There are plenty of other geographical names that they're as incorrect about as blazes.

Rome's name isn't Rome. It's Roma. Naples, name isn't Naples. Napoli. Milan's name is Milano. Lisbon is Lisboa. Copenhagen is Kopenhavn, with an umlaut over the "u".

And the smarties who call Siam "Thai!"

MORE AIR PILOTS

Although progress in strengthening America's air arm has been beset by bottlenecks and other handicaps, it is heartening to report that in at least one field of aviation the nation has really been giving wings to its hopes.

The Civil Aeronautics Board—formerly the Civil Aeronautics Authority—is the bearer of these good tidings. The record of its civilian pilot training program speaks for itself. It is a record of conspicuous success in building up a valuable reserve force of trained civilian pilots.

In 1939, some fourteen thousand pilots received their training under this program. Today, with more than two hundred non-college institutions cooperating with the Civil Aeronautics Board, the end of the present school year will find the country in possession of more than one hundred thousand civilian pilots.

Yet two years ago, the United States could claim a grand total of only twenty-one thousand such fliers.

The swiftness of this advance indicates a head above the crowd in the nation's training of civilian aviators. It is a necessary task being carried out with the necessary speed.

That is really the proposition advanced by the bill. It is to be hoped that in his support of the President's general position, and in his anxiety to give the British speedily the aid we should give, not only for their sake but our own, Mr. Wilkie, when he appears before the Senate committee, will insist upon restrictive amendments so far as the presidential power is concerned. This will not make him popular at the White House, but then he is not popular there now and never will be, regardless of what he says or does. Such amendments would not impede or delay British aid in any way. They would neither emasculate nor cripple the bill. All they would do would be to put it in line with the Constitution and put the nation more wholeheartedly back of its primary purpose—to wit, the salvation of England and the defeat of Hitler.

Every ship that goes down for want of Irish bases adds to De Valera's stature as the enemy of freedom.

BOY SCOUT ANNIVERSARY

STRIKING an encouraging note in the world unrest today has been the extended work of the Boy Scouts of America, the world's largest youth organization, now observing its thirty-first anniversary. The men and boys registered in this federally-chartered group have pledged themselves to follow a program of strengthening and invigorating democracy in the United States. A nine-point program stressing self-reliance and ability to react in times of emergency has been undertaken by more than a million and a half members of the Boy Scout movement.

These twelve to sixteen year old boys, under the leadership of volunteer adult workers, are "learning by doing." Faced with practical situations demanding instantaneous and intelligent reactions these boys are receiving valuable training for emergency crises. In this preparation to act the Boy Scouts have pledged themselves to be "united with all lovers of freedom, whatever their tongue or origin. To keep our nation strong in valor and confident in freedom, so that the government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

To this end the 47,000 Scout units throughout the country have made a roll call of their entire membership to isolate weak spots in local organization. Troops have taken stock of themselves in order that they might organize emergency service corps in local communities, prepared to act when danger of any kind threatens.

These efforts hearten sincere and worried Americans who view the future with fear for this country's inherent rights and values. They are in keeping with the long service record of the Boy Scouts of America.

Floods, storms and fires have seen these khaki-clad youths in immediate action. New England and Florida still recovering from the hurricanes and floods of 1938 remember the Boy Scout work with appreciation. Older folks can remember them at work in war times. During World War, over 400,000,000 dollars worth of Liberty Loan subscriptions were sold by Boy Scouts. Forty-three million dollars worth of War Savings Stamps were distributed by these youngsters. Scouts under direction of national leaders located over 5,200 carloads of standing walnut trees for defense authorities. Herbert Hoover, food administrator for the United States, complimented Scouts upon their efficient cultivation of war gardens and farms. These teen-age boys, directly aiding the government, delivered over thirty million pieces of literature.

American democracy is in the spotlight today. While the youth of the United States is being trained in a non-military fashion, not only to meet the exigencies of a war-time emergency, but also to meet the complexities of a peace-time existence, worried Americans may well relax their fears for the future.

ITALY'S UNHAPPY PREDICAMENT

With British troops sweeping into Bengasi and Italian forces withdrawing from the eastern Libyan capital, Mussolini has lost another one-time stronghold of his African empire.

Nor is there much to comfort him on other fronts. In Eritrea, Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland the Duce's forces are falling back as the British advance. In Albania the doughy Greeks continue to smash away at the Italians, in spite of blizzards and cruel cold.

What, then, are Italy's war prospects as of today? According to Leland Stowe, correspondent just back from Europe, "unless strong German aid is sent soon to the Italian Army, Italy will be completely out of the war." Furthermore, says Stowe, "Fascism is dead. There is no more Fascism in Italy, only a Fascist corpse being held up by the Nazis."

Whether or not Mr. Stowe overstates the case, there isn't any question about Italy's predicament. In order to keep Italy in the war, thus assuring Nazi Germany an outlet on the Mediterranean, it isn't inconceivable that Hitler is prepared virtually to take over domination of the southern end of the Axis. He is now sending increasing numbers of troops and airplanes down there.

If the Nazification of their country, with or without victory, is the price Italians will have to pay for Mussolini's abysmal mistake in leading them into the war, it is a dreary outlook.

Italy's release from despotism, Fascist or Nazi, as well as restoration of France's independence, appears to depend on Britain's ability not only to withstand Hitler's onslaught but to force a crack-up of Hitler's empire.

"Retonga was a great blessing to me for I was suffering miserably before I tried this grand medicine. ### Junior Odd Fellows Honor Richard Hill

Retiring Advisor Will Be Presented With Gift In Hall This Evening

Members of David Jameson Lodge No. 9, Junior I.O.O.F., will gather in the Odd Fellows Hall on East Washington street, this evening, at 8:30 o'clock, when they will accord a final farewell honors to Retiring Advisor Richard P. Hill, who is leaving to make his home in Pittsburgh, and will present him with a handsome gift.

Mr. Hill's resignation was presented on Thursday evening at the stated meeting of the lodge, and Arthur W. Meek was named as his successor. Mr. Meek will serve until Mr. Hill is installed.

On Wednesday evening, officers and members of the lodge tendered Mr. Hill a surprise party in the home of Guy J. Lateano, of North Cedar street. Special entertainment was provided by members of the organization, and a fun degree was conferred under the direction of Associate Advisor Richardson. Talks were given by William E. Hufford, chief ruler, and Mont L. Sweesy, district deputy grand master.

Refreshments were served by a committee composed of: John Bune-mann, Edward P. Knobloch, Donald E. McCormick, William Hufford, Mont L. Sweesy, and Guy J. Lateano.

Radio Broadcast Tonight To Aid Relief For Greeks

Announcement was made today by Speer Marousis, local chairman of the Greek war relief campaign, of a special coast-to-coast radio broadcast over KDKA and WCAE, Pittsburgh, starting at 11:15 tonight in the interest of the nation-wide campaign for funds for relief of Greek civilians.

Contributions to the Greek war relief campaign can be made locally at the Fountain Inn Hotel, or by calling 2281 to have a solicitor call on you at your home, or office, for your donation.

HURT AT WORK

Bert Rhodes, of 613 West Washington street, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 11:40 Friday morning, for an injury to a finger, sustained while at work at the plant of the New Castle Refractories Company. He pinched his finger between a board and rack in the drying room.

CLEAN MILK

Today almost every city on this continent requires that all milk sold within its limits be pasteurized. This, of course, has been of the greatest help in the prevention of diseases, particularly in children, who are more apt than adults to contract such diseases as tuberculosis of the bones, joints and glands from infected raw milk.

And why shouldn't all milk used for drinking be pasteurized? It comes from cows that may be diseased, it is procured by humans whose hands may not be completely clean, and it is milked into pails and poured into cans that may not be sterile.

If you live in a city the health department watches the milk supply and enforces laws requiring pasteurization of milk. But there are still plenty of people through the country who use raw milk and take great chances, either through ignorance, indifference or because they think that pasteurization is a long, difficult process that they cannot perform themselves.

I know this because in response to previous columns on pasteurization, mothers have written me declaring that they would use only pasteurized milk in the home if they knew how to get it. For them, and for persons away from home who may not be sure of the purity of the milk they get for their children, I offer this easy and safe way to pasteurize milk:

Pour your milk into the top half of an ordinary double boiler, and put water in the bottom half. Set it on the stove and when the boiling water has brought the temperature of the milk up to 143 degrees Fahrenheit, push it to the back of the stove and let it stand there for 30 minutes. The hot water will keep the temperature of the milk up to 143 degrees for the 30 minutes and this is the temperature and time needed to pasteurize your milk and make it safe to drink. When this 30 minutes is up, cool the milk and it is ready for use.

There is another procedure which is even easier to follow, but which isn't as popular. That is to heat the milk, preferably in a double boiler, to the boiling point and then cool without keeping it at that point for any length of time. This will give you good safe milk, and many private homes use it. However, some persons dislike the cooked flavor of the milk.

Conquest Of Bengazi Important To British

(International News Service)

CAIRO, Feb. 8.—Amid a blistering, choking sandstorm, begrimed British and Australian troops rolled into Bengazi Friday through dust so thick it was almost impossible to see the gleaming white of its buildings.

The advent of the conquering British Imperial soldiers was one of the most important events since, according to legend, Hercules went to Bengazi—then known as Hesperides-Berenice—in quest of the golden apples of Hesperides.

Britain's army also found a "golden apple"—in the form of an important strategic advantage both militarily and navally. Capture of Bengazi will prove of great help to the navy, authorities said. The port's embarkation facilities are excellent, and its breakwaters enclose an improved port area capable of accommodating large cruisers.

When the British planted their union jack above the governor's palace on the palm-shaded square of the Piazza De Re, they took control of a modern city of 65,000 which the Italians have built up in the last score of years as a center for North African colonization.

From Bengazi through Derna to Tobruk, wells and springs provide one of the few fertile areas in the African desert and more than 150,000 Italian colonists have taken up their abode in the section.

Expect Pause In Drive

London, Feb. 8.—Official announcement that Bengazi, last Italian stronghold in Eastern Libya, has been captured by British troops was received with intense satisfaction in London.

Fall of Bengazi was regarded as a speedy culmination of the present phase of operations in Libya. It was believed Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, the British commander-in-chief in the middle east, now may pause to consolidate his coastal gains and mop up any remaining Italian resistance inland.

The strategic value of Bengazi was regarded as great, due to its geographical relations to Malta, British Mediterranean stronghold, and Sicily, where German dive-bombers are operating from Italian air bases.

British authorities said the British advance, covering 180 miles of rocky, mountainous terrain in approximately one week despite bad desert weather, was one of the finest feats ever accomplished by British troops, particularly since German planes attempted to halt the drive.

Sons Of Italy Planning Party

Carnival Party To Be Held By Lodge On February 22 Before The Lenten Season

Plans are rapidly progressing for the annual carnival party of the Sons of Italy organization, to take place on Saturday, February 22, in the Sons of Italy club rooms, South Mill street, before the beginning of the Lenten season. Officers will be in charge of the event.

These arrangements were made at the Friday evening meeting held in the club rooms. New members were initiated with the president, Samuel Bassano, in charge of the initiation and Anthony Costa as herald.

This evening a social gathering will take place at the club for members and friends. Dancing and other diversions will be featured, and at a late hour refreshments will be served by the committee.

Speakers at the meeting who spoke on the welfare of the club were Anthony Costa, Constable Acquaviva and Cosmo Galasso, the latter being the ex-venerable.

The next meeting will be held in the Arena, at which time officers will be elected, on Sunday, February 16, at 1:30 o'clock. Following the election, members will assemble in their club rooms for a social hour.

The session closed with brief remarks by the president, Samuel Bassano.

It's our own fault. Any state, county or town could save half of the money it spends, but taxpayers haven't time to investigate the waste of their money.

New Castle Hi Loses On Friday To Aliquippans

Score Is 38 To 23 At Aliquippa, Sixth Straight Win For Valley Quintet

FERRY AND BAR STARS OF GAME

New Castle high school basketball team was defeated by the league leading Aliquippa High Steelers last night at Aliquippa, 38 to 23 in a Section Three battle. It was the sixth straight win without a defeat for the Aliquippa team and they are headed for the Sectional title, it is believed.

New Castle could get but two field goals the first period to trail 7 to 4 as the first stanza ended. Cooper and Lee made the New Castle baskets, with Aliquippa's scoring rather evenly divided.

Aliquippa On Rampage
The Aliquippa team went on a rampage in the second period to score 11 more points and allow the locals but five, making the count read 18 to 9 as the first half ended. Lee and Christopher had the New Castle buckets, with Thomas shooting a foul. Bar and Blich led the Steelers in the matter of tallying with two double-deckers apiece.

There was no letup for the "Guys" in the third period as they banged in 13 more points to seven for the New Castle boys to take a commanding 31 to 16 lead as the fourth period began. Ferry and Bar staged the Aliquippa show, with Ross and Cooper joining the local scoring for the third period.

Even Up Final Period
Play was even the final period with both teams scoring seven points, but the New Castle could not catch up to the Steelers, who used a clever defense. Ross, Cooper and Christopher did the New Castle fourth period tallying. Bar, Ferry and Schell scored for the winners.

In the matter of foul tossing New Castle had 7 out of 20. Aliquippa made 12 out of 14 for a very brilliant achievement.

Beaver Falls high will play here at Washington high court next Tuesday night in a Section Three battle.

THEY STILL TALK ABOUT TOM HARMON

Despite the fact that baseball is rapidly advancing to take its place in the sports world, Tom Harmon, Michigan's superman, is still being discussed in some quarters.

Fred (Moose) Hartman, Rice Institute's tackle, comes out and casts a vote for Harmon as the best back in collegiate football during 1940.

The opinion is similar to the one expressed by most fans, writers and gridders throughout the land.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Figures in the sport game get around. They're here today, somewhere else tomorrow and they meet people someone else knows in all sections. For instance, Paul Bowser, manager of The Angel and one of the most prominent figures in the wrestling game today, told of meeting the late Jimmie Dime and George Chip when the latter was battling in Boston and elsewhere while Gus Sonnenberg, an ex-collegian and one time big football nose, told of meeting Jimmie Dunn, Suey Welch and others well known here in California.

Plans for the annual banquet of the Lawrence County Baseball league will be completed February 12, when the officers and managers of teams in the circuit meet at the Sport Goods store. It is doubtful if any more two popular figures than Chilly Doyle and Jack Dunley could have been secured as speakers. Chilly knows every player in the Big Show and Jack has been mixed up with men in the upper bracket since he launched into baseball. At present, he is the head of the Butler Yankees.

Sonny And Ted Rest Until Bell

Hard Training Past, Rivals Take Things Easy Until Monday

BAXTER, LEASURE, REALE ON CARD

Sonny Horne and Ted Delarado, two of the best welterweights in the Tri-state district today completed strenuous training and will take things easy from now until 8:30 p. m. Monday when they deliver blows in The Arena. Horne won the Plain Dealer Golden Glove tournament for 147-pounders last week before 9,000 fans. Delarado, who hails from East Liverpool, has fought many good fights here.

They'll rest tomorrow, partake of a short walk Monday and reach the city at 6 p. m. Monday. They'll be given the "once over" by the physician named by the state boxing commission, following which they will repair to their dressing-rooms to await the hostilities.

Billy Reale of Castlewood and Buddy Burke, middleweights, are scheduled for the next to last bout and Russell Baxter, a flashy local boy who has been winning consistently, will meet George King of New Brighton. It will be King's first appearance in The Arena ring.

Harold LaRoache of Pittsburgh and Al Sayers of Chester, W. Va., both said to be good welterweights, will be on the card.

Buddy Sullivan of Pittsburgh, who defeated Babe Retardo two weeks ago, will box Bud Mooney of New Brighton. Buzz fought Frankie Moran about a year ago, losing. Rollin Horne, brother of Sonny, who won here two weeks ago, will oppose Jimmy Richardson of Chester, W. Va.

Les Leasure, another New Castle fighter, will appear. He will meet Vic Hall of Monaca, a newcomer, and Walter Means of Pittsburgh will toss blows with Frankie Cortey of Niles.

The Jefferson A. C. is promoting the fight show as a benefit for the Prevention of Infantile Paralysis fund.

Shenango Spills Wampum Passers

East New Castle Cagers Annex Thrilling Section 20 Tiff, 40-38

Shenango Township High has reentered the Section 20 championship fight.

The plucky East New Castle hoopers tossed a monkey wrench in the championship plans of Wampum High, spilling the Indians, 40-38, Friday night on Shenango floor in one of the wildest battles of the season.

The rivals played bean bag with the lead during most of the encounter. Shenango managed to pile up a 12-11 edge as the initial stanza ended. Wampum struck back and grabbed a 19-17 lead as the half closed.

Flashing his best form, the Indians ran up 32-25 advantage in the third chapter. Shenango pecked away at the lead and finally tied the count, 38-38. With seconds left, Bob Pitzer stepped to the foul line and counted two charity heaves that gave Shenango the nod.

A capacity crowd saw Shenango down the scrappy Wampum five. Since New Wilmington and Mt. Jackson both won, the "Greyhounds" are in first place. Mt. Jackson and Wampum are tied for second place.

Bob Pitzer was outstanding for Shenango, scoring 19 points. Walter Brunton contributed 14 markers to the cause. Craine, Bennett and Hervatine were Wampum's mainstays.

Shenango's seconds won the preliminary number over the Wampum Reserves, 28-9.

Waynesburg Battles Westminster Tonight

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 8.—Captain for the Westminster Titans cagers' crucial game tonight against the high-scoring Waynesburg Jackets, will be Joe Spak, junior guard.

The former South High player, although not among the highest scorers on the Blue and White team, is a very versatile passer and an excellent floorman, and has the season's best average on tossing free-points.

Part of Spak's job will be to stop the fast scoring habits of "Diamond Jim" Brady and Jack Belsler. Probable Titan starters will be Ridi and Fox, forwards; Wasik or Miller, center, and Spak and Dunmire, guards. For Waynesburg, starters will be Brady and Belsler, forwards; Caterino, center, and Varnak and Byer, guards.

Westminster's power-attack was rolling along in great fashion until the Indiana-Titan game, which the Blue and White lost, 38-37, to break their nine-game winning streak.

For the first time this year, Westminster cagers dropped below the 40 mark in points scored against the Indians.

New Wilmington Trips Brookers

"Greyhounds" Regain Section 20 Lead By Grabbing 20-19 Decision

New Wilmington high regained first place in the torrid Section 20 pennant scramble by nosing out East Brook, 20-19, Friday night on East Brook floor.

The hotly contested fray thrilled the gallery no end. The "Greyhounds," strengthened by the return of "Kenny" Cathcart, forged ahead 5-2 at the close of the initial period.

The Brookers played impressively in the second stanza and took a 12-10 lead as hostilities ended at the half. With Grossetti and Cathcart playing an important hand for the respective teams, the game was tied 16-16 by the close of the third period. In the dying moments, the foe were even at 19-19. Cathcart smashed the tie by caging a foul.

Grossetti was East Brook's outstanding player with 10 points. Cathcart led the attack for New Wilmington, pocketing nine points.

The preliminary game was bagged by the New Wilmington Reserves, 19-17, East Brook's seconds being the victim.

SMALL FIELD MAY START ANITA RACE

Latest checkup reveals that a small field of 10 or 12 starters are listed for the Santa Anita Handicap, March 1.

The "one hundred grander," the Santa Anita derby on February 12, will include a big field of 20 or more starters.

Urban, Ill.—Three members of the University of Illinois basketball squad earned straight "A" the highest possible grade, in all their studies for the last semester. Bob Bergeson, Batavia, Bill Oesterling, Urbana and Dan Talan, from Englewood high school, Chicago, are the trio.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports scramble—The name of Coy Craine is a prominent one in County Class B circles. The colored athlete today ranks as the top performer in Section 20, now that Paul Minner is benchwarming. Craine is the main reason why Wampum has moved on to the top spot. Centers like Craine are rare. In a scramble under the hoop or when the ball rebounds off the board, Craine will bob up with the spheroid nine times out of 10. To date, Craine has hit the curtains for more than 70 points in loop circles.

Professional wrestling has hit the spot so far as fandom is concerned. The mat sport has been the chief topic of discussion, athletically speaking, since the grapplers moved on. The freight pavers, fully realizing that the game is not lily-white, like the streamlined transportation unraveled before their eyes. Fans take the sport for what it's worth. They get satisfaction, which, after all, is what anyone expects when he or she steps out for a bit of entertainment.

Early reports indicate that the committee in charge of the annual Lawrence County cage extravaganza will be stormed with entries by the time the tourney starts rolling. Unusual interest is being evinced. The Renaissance, as good a team as you'll find in the professional world, will probably appear here on Wednesday, March 5. The famous Rens will lineup against a local all-star combination.

Mel Ott, the veteran fly chaser of the New York Giants, is a puzzle for pitchers. In the past eight seasons, Mel has trotted down first the easy way on 800 different occasions.

At 23, Mickey Owens is a seasoned major leaguer. Owens, who has been purchased by the Dodgers from the Cards, already has had four years of experience in the big show.

"Babe" Ruth was 47 yesterday.

"Lefty" Gomez reportedly has one of those proviso contracts. If and when he starts to win for the Yanks, he'll get an "up" in salary.

The Giants and Cubs are the only two clubs that can point to more victories than defeats in competition with Pittsburgh since the Bucs joined the National League 54 years ago. The Giants won 574 against 504 losses while the Cubs spilled the Bucs 555 times compared to 528 setbacks.

The Yanks will haul no less than nine pitching rookies to their spring training ballfield. George Washington, 18 game winner for Newark in 1940, heads the list.

Connie Mack has piloted major league clubs for 43 seasons. He has bossed the Athletics for 40 years. . . . Kelley, Minneapolis pitcher, didn't commit an error during the 1940 season. . . . Sington, of Louisville, and DePhillips, of K. C., each miscued once.

Gersons Seeking Revenge Sunday

Will Try To Even Up Series With Polish Falcons At Arena Floor

WASHINGTONS TO BATTLE INDIANS

The Arena floor Sunday will be the mecca for hundreds of basketball fans for the big game of the year between the Gersons and the Polish Falcons, this being a return game to the one at the Falcon hall last Sunday which went to the Falcons.

In the preliminary game at 2:30 o'clock the Booker T. Washington team will battle the Seneca Indians from Salamanca, New York. This is a full-blooded Seneca Indian team. This should be a humdinger of a battle.

Big Floor Jinx
The Gersons will play hard to even up the count tomorrow. Coach Mike Kulich will have his strongest possible lineup available. The big question is can the Falcons play on such a big floor as the Arena? The Gersons have always been able to defeat the Falcons at the Arena, but always lose at the Miller avenue court.

The Falcons were the 1940 City-County champions and hope to repeat this year. With such veterans as Paul Morrison, Adams and Kendra and the Koszela boys the Falcons have practically the same team as last year. The biggest basketball crowd of the year is expected at the Arena for the contest. Johnny Cabas will be back in the Gerson lineup after an absence of a few games due to injuries.

Following are the probable line-ups:
Gersons: R. Genock, F. Kendra, Zingaro, F. Koszela, Olson, C. Adams, Bullano, G. Morrison, N. Genock, G. Sniezek, Falcon Reserves—Wenda, Kwolek, Klamut, Potoczny.

Gerson Reserves—Parou, Hordig, Bucc, O'Brien, Cabas.

Princeton High Tops Plaingrove

Princeton High defeated Plaingrove high last night at the latter's floor 32 to 24, with Johnson the standout star for the Princetonians.

At the half the score favored Princeton 15 to 12. In the preliminary game the Plaingrove Jayvees handed the Princeton Jayvees an 11 to 10 defeat.

Stock Market
Tone Is FirmerTrading Is Quiet During Morning Session Of New York MarketBy LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service
Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The stock market displayed a firm tone today but trading was very quiet.

A helpful factor was a steadier performance of rail shares in the face of rail labor's demands for vacations with pay.

Steel shares were little better than steady. U. S. Steel moved in a narrow range around the previous close. Bethlehem edged forward. There was some demand for ship-building shares in response to the big earnings shown by Bath Iron Works. Motor shares moved up. Chrysler gaining a sizeable fraction. Great Northern, Pennsylvania and Atchafalaya were firm in the railroad group.

Loft added to recent gains. American Telephone was better. Utilities were dull and inclined to sag. Aviation shares were a little better. General Electric was moderately higher.

Banquet Monday Night To Open Scout Week

Lawrence County Boy Scout Council will open the annual celebration of Scout Week on Monday evening with a banquet in the Cathedral Building. William J. Night, of Scranton, has been secured as speaker for the occasion.

According to word received by John J. Pinnessy, local Scout Executive, who is a personal friend of Mr. Night's, he will speak on the subject, "Leadership and Scouting."

At present, Mr. Night is employed by the International Text Book Company, on a project in cooperation with national defense. He does considerable work in what might be termed "the rehabilitation of man," by finding suitable positions in life for handicapped persons.

Mr. Night is an active Scouter, and holds the coveted Silver Beaver award.

At the annual banquet last year, there were more than 700 adults present, and reservations this year seem to indicate that the figure will go much higher for the affair Monday night. Most of the troops will be represented by Scouts, it was learned.

In cooperation with the Scout Council, several local service clubs are cancelling their regular meetings next week and plan to attend the Scout dinner in a body.

Scout Week will run from Sunday, February 9 to Saturday, February 15, and will mark the 31st anniversary of Scouting in America.

Charles Carbeau, newly elected president of the Council, will preside at the business session. L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power Company will serve in the role of master-of-ceremonies. Rev. J. Calvin Rose, last year's banquet speaker, is serving as program committee chairman this year.

Representatives of Neshannock Post V. F. W. and Ellwood City V. F. W. Post will attend the banquet and will present an American flag and a Council flag to the county organization.

Another faithful local Scouter will join the ranks of the Silver Beavers, when the annual award is made at the dinner. One Silver Beaver award is made each year and to be eligible for it, a man must have served the Scout organization faithfully for 10 or more years.

WILLIAM J. NIGHT

It isn't every dog that can walk into a public building, get himself a home and a tag within half an hour, but "Habeas Corpus" did it. Habeas Corpus, (the name was hung on him Friday) is just dog. Long ears, short legs, black and tan body and a lineage that denies definite designation.

Some where in his lineage there may have been a daschund. Certainly there have been hounds. But Habeas Corpus is a combination of all his ancestry with a good disposition tossed in for luck.

Friday morning he walked into the court house, looked around and decided the weather inside was much better than outside. Mrs. Gaston, who has the refreshment stand in the lobby took a fancy to him and he was adopted. Ed Wish happened along and paid $1.10 for a license the pooch was christened Habeas Corpus. Acquainted as you are with Latin you know that the term "habeas corpus" means produce the body with all the charges. The body was produced and the charges were $1.10. And now Habeas Corpus has a name.

In the budget for 1941 the county commissioners have earmarked $62,500 for capital outlay at the court house. The money is to be used for two major improvements, one an addition to the court house and the other a new detention home.

The commissioners have in mind an addition to the east side of the court house. Through this wing space could be provided for the commissioners' clerical force, a meeting room for the commissioners and a

Church Sodality Planning Party

An interesting talk was given by Sister Hildegard, who spoke on the welfare of the Sodality.

A social function will take place on Friday, February 21, in the church hall at 8 o'clock, with Yolanda Carney in charge.

The next meeting on March 6 will be at 7:30 o'clock.

When a successful business man sees no peril to America, you wonder how he became a success.

AROUND CITY HALL

Those who receive a ticket for alleged over-time parking themselves must present the ticket should they have a valid reason why they should be exempted from payment of a fine. Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen stated today. The police official asserted that some autoists give the ticket to others who visit his office and in some instances have not desired to give the name of the car operator. Henceforth all persons who wish to win an exoneration must personally explain the circumstances.

Police Chief W. G. McMullen, city detectives and State Motor Policeman Robert McCullough discussed police affairs Friday afternoon in detective headquarters. Many of the cases which have come up during the past 10 years were discussed. Police activities here during the past week or more have been slow. However, last month was different, several house burglaries, gasoline station robberies, sneak job hits and an armed holdup having occurred.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Two weeks without sleep and a man dies from exhaustion. Air is the most important vital requirement of life. Then comes water—and sleep. During sleep, nature repairs the bodily wear and tear. Sleep is a state of periodic physiological unconsciousness. Health and efficiency are maintained through sufficient sleep. The average person spends one-third of his life in bed. The chief factor in sleep's benefit is its depth. A sound sleep of 5 hours is better than 10 hours of restlessness. Tossing in bed and disturbing dreams rob sleep of its value. Absolute rest presupposes a dreamless slumber. The desired result is an urge to arise and be up and doing.

DR. OSCAR E. HARDER WILL MAKE ADDRESS

Harder, at a dinner meeting at the Elks Club, in Youngstown, at 6:30 p. m. To think America in no danger is to serve Hitler. That's precisely what he wants us to think.

DEDUCTIONS FOR BUSINESS EXPENSES

Deductions for business expenses form a large item in the return of many taxpayers and must have certain qualities to be allowed. Such deduction must be for an expenditure in connection with the maintenance and operation of the taxpayer's business or business properties; it must be an ordinary expense and it must be a necessary expense. In insisting upon the latter qualifications, the Bureau of Internal Revenue is upheld by the Board of Tax Appeals and the courts. Ordinary and necessary expenses are only those which are usual and essential in the case of similar taxpayers, "and do not include extraordinary and nonessential expenses."
